

APPLY FOR ADVANCED POSTDOC POSITION

WPI Osaka University
iFReC
Immunology Frontier Research Center
大阪大学免疫学フロンティア研究センター

Change the Future of Immunology.

OAPPOINTMENT

Position: Postdoctoral Research Fellow
Specialist field: Immunology or Cell Biology
Place of Work: Osaka University, Japan
Annual salary: 5,523,000 yen to 7,425,900 yen
Grant for original research: 3 million yen per year
Employment term: renewable for a maximum of three years

We look forward to your application!

The top level research center for immunology in Japan, IFReC has a team of world-recognized principal investigators using state-of-the-art facilities. The advanced postdoc position includes interaction with these investigators as well as an internationally competitive salary and funding for original research. Our research environment is the ideal foundation on which to base your achievements. Research experience in Japan will make a significant contribution to your career. The center also provides language and information assistance for life in Japan.

DETAILS

Number of positions: Postdoctoral Research Fellow x3

Specialist field: Immunology or Cell Biology

Qualifications: (1) Doctoral degree

- (2) Less than eight years since obtaining doctorate
- (3) Outstanding performance in specialist field
- (4) International experience preferred

Place of Work: Suita Campus, Osaka University in Osaka, Japan

Salary: Annual salary 5,523,000 yen to 7,425,900 yen excluding social security cost

Grant for original research: 3 million yen per year

Employment term: from January 1st 2019 (at earliest) to March 31st 2019 (renewable for a maximum of three years)

Notes: When applying, the applicant should try to obtain the agreement of the principal investigator of the laboratory you would like to join after appointment. We welcome applications even without agreement but please record your preferred laboratory in your research plan.

APPLICATION AND SELECTION

Deadline: Until the posts are filled

Application documents: All documents should be A4 and in English.

- (1) Curriculum Vitae (your past education, experiences, and description of past research, academic and social contribution achievements, international experience)
- (2) Publication list
- (3) Research plan
- (4) Statement of ambitions for your future research and for your time at IFReC
- (5) References letters from at least two people and contact details from referees.

Submission of documents:

General Affairs Section, Osaka University Immunology Frontier Research Center

Email: ifrec-office@ifrec.osaka-u.ac.jp

Selection process:

Document screening and interview (contact will be made with candidates after document screening).

The applicant will cover costs such as travel and accommodation incurred for the interview. All personal information included in the application will be handled carefully and not used for any other purpose.

Inquiries:

Associate Professor, Akihiko Takagi

Research Management and Planning Office, IFReC